What is the dark web and how does it affect you? In the MS in Investigations’ Digital Forensics concentration, you’ll gain expertise, advanced skills, and a thorough understanding of the cyber forensics field. Equip yourself for a career as a public or private investigator, or transition from the public sector to private industry.

THE ACADEMIC OBJECTIVES OF THE PROGRAM
- Legal issues and investigative procedures in digital forensics
- Best practices against dark web organized crime
- Digital forensics criminal procedure for law enforcement

CORE COURSES (TOTAL OF 21 CREDITS)
- CJST 6631 Investigations I
- CJST 6603 Internet Vulnerabilities & Criminal Activity
- CJST 6651 Criminal Procedure
- LSTD 6620 Regulation & Occupational Fraud
- INVS 6690 Topics in Investigations
- CJST 6600 Computer Crime: Legal Issues and Investigative Procedures
- CJST 6604 Network Security Data Protection and Telecommunications

DIGITAL FORENSICS CONCENTRATION (9 CREDITS)
Three (3) electives (9 credits) approved by an advisor.
- INVS 6629 Evolving Trends of Financial and Cyber Crimes in an EMV World
- CJST 6625 Information Systems Threats, Attacks, and Defenses
- CJST 6628 Computer Viruses and Malicious Code
- CJST 6629 Practical Issues in Cryptography
- INVS 6609 Dark Web Investigations
- INVS 6624 E-Discovery Investigations
- INVS 6648 Cyber & Cryptocurrency Issues in Human Trafficking
- INVS 6649 Big Data Analytics and Human Trafficking
- INVS 6671 Blockchain Technology & Investigations
- INVS 6674 Crimes Involving Children

Students are not limited to courses in the Investigations catalogue for electives, and may take courses in criminal justice, white collar crimes, national security, and digital forensics investigations or other programs. It is recommended that students discuss elective selections with their advisor to maximize the educational and career opportunities. Based on a student’s work experience or previous course work, certain core requirements may be substituted by other courses.

FINANCIAL AID INFORMATION
The Online MS in Investigations includes 10 required courses. Graduate online tuition is $990 per credit hour. Each class is 3 credit hours for a total of approximately $2,970 per class. The total cost for the degree is $29,700. Books are an estimated additional $100 per class.

DISCOUNT OPPORTUNITY
We offer 50% discount to police officers, fire fighters, and public safety officers. For more information on our discount opportunities, please visit:
newhaven.edu/about/departments/bursars/ tuition/discounts.php

FOR MORE INFORMATION:
GRADUATE ENROLLMENT
203.932.7440
1.800.342.5864  ext. 7440
lp.newhaven.edu/investigations

PROGRAM ADVISOR
Markka Juntti
203.883.1551
onlineadmin@newhaven.edu

Students are not limited to courses in the Investigations catalogue for electives, and may take courses in criminal justice, white collar crimes, national security, and digital forensics investigations or other programs. It is recommended that students discuss elective selections with their advisor to maximize the educational and career opportunities. Based on a student’s work experience or previous course work, certain core requirements may be substituted by other courses.